

Professional Risks

You have the right to ask us about our remuneration, the type of advice we will provide you, and what you can do if you have a complaint about our services.

This Financial Services Guide (FSG) is intended to inform you of certain basic matters relating to our relationship, prior to us providing you with a financial service. The matters covered by the FSG include who we are, how we can be contacted, what services we are authorised to provide to you, how we (and any other relevant parties) are remunerated and details of any potential conflicts of interest.

It is intended that this FSG should assist you in determining whether to use any of the services described in this document.

In the event we make a recommendation to acquire a particular insurance policy, we must also provide you with a Product Disclosure Statement (PDS) containing information about the particular policy, which will enable you to make an informed decision in relation to the acquisition of that product.

Lack of Independence

IFS Insurance Solutions is not independent, impartial or unbiased because we receive commission from Insurers for the advice and placement of insurances we provide to you for certain insurance products.

Portfolio Monitoring

Internal databases are maintained detailing services provided to clients by IFS Insurance Solutions. This does not constitute monitoring. Insurances are reviewed on an agreed basis, subject to the client's discretion.

Who do you act for when you provide financial services to me?

IFS Insurance Solutions is responsible for the financial services provided to you.

How will I pay for the service?

We may charge you:

- A fixed fee for service for arranging an insurance policy or a fee based upon the time we spend providing an agreed service to you
- An annual management fee
- A transaction fee in addition to brokerage when you enter into or renew an insurance policy

The services that such fees cover include:

- Professional advice in reviewing insurance policies;
- Market research on products available;
- Assessing the ability of insurers to pay claims;
- Sourcing alternative quotations and coverage;
- Insurance portfolio co-ordination; and
- Claims handling services.

All fees payable for our services will be advised to you at the time of providing the service.

Do you receive remuneration, commission, fees or other benefits in relation to providing the financial services to me and how is that commission calculated?

Our employees receive market salaries, and in some cases bonuses linked to performance.

We generally charge a fee for service when acting for clients. However, in some cases we may also receive brokerage from the insurer that is a separate arrangement negotiated directly between us and the insurer.

We will agree our remuneration basis in advance with you.

Generally, the payments we receive for brokerage (or other benefits) will be based on the amount you pay for any insurance policy (less any government fees or charges included in that policy). The brokerage rate ranges between 0% and 26.5% of premium.

We do not generally pay any brokerage, fees or benefits to others who refer you to us or refer us to an insurer. If we do, we will pay brokerage to those people out of our earnings (not in addition to those earnings).

We will send you a tax invoice for any policy that we arrange for you, which will show the cost of your insurance (including any fire services levy payable, state taxes, commonwealth taxes). We may also set out different payment methods available such as credit card or premium financing options. You are required to pay us within 14 days, or earlier, if we tell you that is necessary. If there is a refund of premium as a result of a cancellation or adjustment of the policy, we reserve the right to retain our remuneration earned prior to the cancellation or adjustment.

We do not receive any soft dollar benefits from insurers or third parties. These are benefits where a non-cash benefit is received for services provided.

We may retain interest earned on insurance monies held in our trust accounts. We normally hold trust monies on behalf of the insurer.

4) Professional Indemnity Insurance

This cover extends (subject to policy terms and conditions) to the conduct of our current representatives/employees and also to those who no longer work for IFS Insurance Solutions but who did at the time of the relevant conduct that would give rise to a claim for compensation.

5) Your Duty of Disclosure

Before you enter into or renew an insurance contract with a General Insurer, you have a Duty of Disclosure under the Insurance Contracts Act 1984. You have this duty until the insurer agrees to insure you or to renew the policy.

Before you enter into an "eligible" class of insurance, if the insurer asks you questions that are relevant to their decision to insure you and on what terms, you must tell them anything that you know and that a reasonable person in the circumstances would include in answering the questions, unless the insurer waives the requirement.

Before you renew an "eligible" contract of insurance, if the insurer asks you questions that are relevant to their decision to insure you and on what terms, you must tell them anything that you know and that a reasonable person in the circumstances would include in answering the questions. Also, the insurer may give you a copy of anything you have previously told them and ask you to tell them if it has changed. If they do this, you must tell them about any change or tell them that there is no change. If you do not tell them about a change to something you have previously told them, you will be taken to have told them that there is no change.

Financial Services Guide

For other classes of insurance, you must tell the insurer anything that you know, or could reasonably be expected to know, may affect their decision to insure you and on what terms. You have the same duty before you renew, extend, vary or reinstate an insurance contract. You do not need to tell the insurer anything that reduces the risk they insure you for, is common knowledge, that the insurer should know as an insurer or where the insurer waives your duty.

The “eligible” classes of insurance are motor vehicle, home buildings of contents, sickness and accident, consumer credit or travel, as well as any other classes of insurance an insurer has decided to treat as “eligible” in which we will notify you further, should this apply.

If you do not tell the insurer something

If you do not tell the insurer anything you are required to, they may cancel your contract or reduce the amount they will pay you if you make a claim, or both.

If your failure to tell them is fraudulent, they may refuse to pay a claim and treat the contract as if it never existed.
